Funny Tech News

20 years to retirement: Geoffrey Hinton, the godfather of AI, believes that AI could surpass human intelligence in next 20 years. So, time to start working on our hobbies – painting, writing, music...oh wait!

Copper T-Shirts: Bye-Bye Apple Watch here comes copper printed t-shirts. This tech enabled fabric can be used to collect health information for studies, monitoring or sports. Do we need to charge our t-shirts now?

What are we going to do with all those golf carts? Indoor golf goes prime time in a 250,000 sq. foot building. Players hit off real grass or sand into 64 x 53 ft. screen, and there is a 40 second shot clock. Going out for some fresh air with my buddies will be harder to pull off.

Brace of Braces: “MouthIQ” a device installed with a brace uses sensors to collect health data from your mouth and can also be used to scroll a webpage. Assuming MIT is also working on devices for other openings, news for a future edition.
